Highlights from August

PowerHour

What a treat! We met at Graeter's Ice Cream in Mt Lebanon. Vanessa and AJ from the Post-Gazette brought us a fantastic boxed lunch from IO Deli and educated us on content and email marketing. Afterward Marcus treated everyone to some yummy ice cream!

Legislative Lunch at St Clair Country Club

What a day! We mingled, we ate, and we heard from state Reps. Natalie Mihalek and Dan Miller, Sen. Devlin Robinson, and Pittsburgh Controller, Michael Lamb.

Special note: for a number of reasons, we had many leftover meals, and so gave 17 meals to the City Mission. So happy to be able to make that donation. From our excess, others were able to benefit.

Women's Wellness Event - Physical, Financial, Mindful

We women had a fun evening that was both relaxing and invigorating. We transformed the Brentwood Bank lobby into our workout floor! Starting with some aerobic stretching by Chamber Director, Sydnee. We then went into a financial review from our banker and Board Treasurer, Jen Hisdorf. From there, Angelina Beas of 3Elements took us through a mindful breathing exercise, and then we finished with an aerobic stretch featuring yoga moves.

Ah, then the food, wine, and connections!

Eating, drinking, making connections

I work with investors flipping homes in the local area for resale or rentals. I then tell them how I also do side jobs usually in the evenings. The second part usually puts a puzzled look on their face and they question me why I do that after working a full day. There are two main reasons why I do those little jobs. First is that large companies ignore those clients or if they do take the job take advantage of them and greatly overcharge for the service. The second reason is most of the side jobs are from seniors who do not have the ability or do not have family members who are capable of doing those small jobs. With that in mind I think about my mother who lives alone and if it wasn't for me helping her around the house she would have to call a company that would probably take advantage of her.
